A stylish mid century modern credenza sideboard unit in a fabulous high-gloss maple finish. Produced by Meredew, England, this was part of its 1960s Tola furniture range designed by Alphons Loebenstein.

Good storage, with 6 good sized drawers which have angular, modernist lines that gives the piece great depth and texture, with the high-gloss finish providing excellent light reflection.

A desirable piece which would work equally well in a bedroom, modern hallway or lounge. A high gloss lacquered piece which is in superb original condition, the handles are also original with faux brass plated finish, some age related patina and wear to the handles which gives the piece some authenticity.
