Impressive 19th Century Blacksmith Made Wrought Iron Hat, Coat & Umbrella Stand

Crafted by a skilled blacksmith, this magnificent wrought iron hat, coat and umbrella stand is a true testament to the artistry of the 19th century. Standing at an imposing scale, the piece features 6 large hooks and 9 smaller hooks, providing ample space to store hats, coats, umbrellas, and walking sticks.

The stand's design is characterized by a striking carousel shape, elevated on three sturdy tripod legs. The natural iron patina has been beautifully preserved, with hints of an old paint finish adding to the piece's authentic charm. The intricate details and riveted construction showcase the exceptional craftsmanship of the blacksmith who created this stunning functional work of art.

A sturdy piece with good weight, the tripod leg design makes it very stable.

Whether used to organize an entryway or displayed as a sculptural accent, this magnificent 19th century wrought iron stand is a quality piece that would be a striking addition to any space. Its impressive scale and sculptural form make it a wonderful decorative piece.

The surface finish has been lacquered to maintain the iron patina. It could be overpainted to suit your own design scheme.
