A LARGE 1960S MID CENTURY MODERNIST CONCRETE PLANTER IN THE MANNER OF WILLY GUHL

SKU: GD1672

£995.00

A very large single 1960s mid-century modernist concrete cone planter, measuring 90cm across, in the manner of Willy Guhl.  A wonderful decorative piece with great scale and colour.

The warm off-white colour with a lovely, weathered patina, features natural moss accents along the top edges, adding to its rustic charm. This perfect blend of aesthetic makes it a perfect decorator piece for someone wanting to add a modernist feel to their outdoor setting.

Large enough for use as a statement piece or could be combined with other planters for a layered effect.  Shown here with another similar pair, the round cone shapes provide interest and texture.  This also have a wonderful soft colourway to lift a dark corner or used as a contrast piece.

The planter is in good sound condition, featuring a small single drainage hole at the base, which could be plugged for used in an inside space.

The timeless appeal of mid-century modern design is perfect for designers looking to create an inviting atmosphere with natural tone and texture.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

| | |
|---|---|
| Age | Circa 1960s |
| Dimensions | H34cm x W90cm / H13.5" x W35.5" |
| Material | Concrete |
| Origin | English |

GALLERY IMAGES